POSTGRADUATE TRAINING: OSTEOPATHY AND THE THREE DOORS

BY PIERRETTE CYR, OSTEOPATH

Clinician for more than 30 years, Pierrette Cyr is a supervisor at the external clinic of the CEOM and professor at the College of Osteopathic Studies in Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver, Switzerland and Germany since 1995. She teaches programs on lymphatics, lungs and advanced palpation. In 2013, she gave a seminar on "The Three Doors" in Sacramento, California, USA

She graduated from the CEOM in 1992 following the submission of the memoir "Osteopathy, way of life". She earned her MSc in Science, Manual Therapy and Orthopedics from Emory University in Atlanta, Georgia, USA and a degree in Physiotherapy from the University of Montreal.

We are pleased to invite you to take part in the seminar

This seminar is a compilation of my thirty-two years of experience as an osteopath. My vision is to help restore the congruency between thoughts, sayings and deeds. In order to achieve that goal, the human body possesses three main doors. In facilitating the openings and the communication between these three doors, we can help our patients on their path of life and to allow them to return toward unity of self.

«Triune Human Being»

Join me for this formal and hands-on seminar where we will explore the human body and unlock these three doors. As you become familiar with this work and confident in integrating it into your own practice, you will be able to assist your patients restore their unity.

Looking forward to sharing with you my passion for osteopathy, movement and life!
